"I feel bigger and stronger than ever be ore, said the star pitcher, and I hope to have as much success or more this year than I had last season. We are going to have a faster team than ever and I am satisfied that the club that beats us will win the flag. I want to take part in the world's series and it seems safe to predict that some of the cames for the greatest honors in professional seball will be played at the Polo Grounds.

A young man from Honolulu will in all probability pitch in some of Harvard's base-ball games this year. His name is Alfred Lowry Castle and at present he is considered he next best man to big Paul Coburn, Har-ord's star boxman. Castle is tall, thin and ngular, with hair that is almost white and strong face. In his freshman year he pitched n his class team and last year he was take on his class team and last year he was taken on the 'varsity, figuring in one or two minor rames. Castle, under Jack Chesbro's mentor-hip, is snowing steady improvement. He has good speed, surves and control, and Chesbro thinks he will be able to relieve oburn when called upon. Coburn by the av. bids fair to be even more effective than ist year. He has been working hard in the rage and is in splendid trim already. Ches-bro has made it a point that he should prac-ise control, which in the past has been about is only weakness. The Harvard team as whole shapes up well, and much is expected of the men who will wear the 'varsity "H.

What has become of the Comiskey-Hart case, which was taken up by the national com-mission two weeks ago? A week ago last Sunday Chairman Herrmann was supposed to have written a decision roundly censuring Hart for circulating unfounded reports as to the honesty of Pitcher Jack Taylor. At least Herrmann promised to write his decision on that day and to mail it to Ban Johnson and H. C. Pulliam for their concurring signatures. Nothing has been heard of the mann has backed down in his decision to censure Hart too severely, and that Pulliam has refused to sign any decision that reflects in any way on the Chicago magnate.

According to a destatch from San Francisco there will be no fight this month between Britt and Nelson, although Jinmy Coffroth has signed both men to articles of agreement to meet before the losemite A. C. The Frisco authorities have just awarded the March light permit to Alex trengains of the San Francisco A. C. who has announced that he will put on Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight, and Marvin Hart of Louisville in a 20 round bout, the winner to fight Jeffries for the championship, although Jeffries has already declared that he will draw the color line on Johnson. This arrangement is a source of disappointment to the sporting fraternity, for there is a general desire to see Britt and Nelson come logether.

Before Corbett received his quietus from Nelson, Joe Gans, who helped the former to train for the battle, said: "If Corbett does not win, I will retire from the same. I shall bet on him, and so will Al Herford. He can-not lose. Gans's retirement, therefore, can be expected at any moment, unless he declares that he was misquoted.

"Nelson hal the Indian sign on Corbett, and that was all there was to it," said the sports along Broadway yesterday. "Once a man is badly beaten by another he seldom comes back to a victory in a second fight. Corbett was fit physically, but Nelson had his heart where he wanted it."

Tod Sloan rode two more winners at Panama Park yesterday. The other day Tod received an ovation for riding Garnish to victory, and incidentally set at rest the reports that he had ost his cupping.

Edward Corrigan says that if the Crescent City Jockey Club decides to continue racing pto April 15, in order to conflict with Panama lark, the New Memphis Jockey Club, in which S. B. Brown is a large stockholder, will resign from the Western Jockey Club, corrigan also says that the announcement of an increase in the value of Harlem's stakes s a bind to keep the other Western Jockey Club tracks in line. Corrigan, it is said, is responsible for a new bill that has been presented to the Miscouri Legislature, which problibits racing in that State, except between April Land Nov. I levies a State tax of 5 per cent, on the gross receipts of each meeting prohibits tracks within fliren miles of each other from miling at the same time, and limits bookmaking exclusively to the betting rings.

Jimmy McLaughlin has had considerable success with his Faraday colt Oxford on the Coast this winter. In addition to winning two overweight handleaps of $400 each, Oxford has won the Fasadena Handleap of a net value of $1,430, the Ascot Handleap of $8,350 net, and ran third in the Ascot Derby. He has run a mile in 1.40 with 107 pounds up, and a mile and a quarier in 2.06, with 110 pounds. McLaughlin thinks the colt will do well in the East this year.

It is said that the Harvard-Pennaylvania football Lame will be played on Nov. 11 in Philadelphia, in accordance with the Crimson's request. On this basis the Quakers will play the Indians on Oct. 28, Lafavette on Nov. 4, Harvard on Nov. 11. Virginia on Nov. 18, Columbia in this city on Nov. 25 and Cornell on Nov. 30. Under this arrangement the Quakers will have to be well trained by the last week in October to heat the Indians, and must keep on edge for a whole month to make a good showing against the other teams. Pennsylvania men feel that the game with Columbia will be one of the hardest on the schedule. It will be the only contest the Quakers will play away from home, and they believe that it should be scheduled for an earlier date. The talk that Harvard wants to arrange a game with Columbia, to be played in Cambridge on Oct. 28, has aroused a great deal of interest among local Crimson graduates who would like to see the match decided in this city. Harvard has not been seen here for nearly ten years, and the presence of the Crimson kickers, coached by Bill Reid, would prove an unusually interesting event in college lootball. It is said that the Harvard-Pennsylvania

Many persons are inclined to believe that because several local athletic clubs are giving boxing shows for members only there will be a general revival of the sport here in the course of time on a much larger scale. Several promoters are talking of organizing a big boxing club which will occupy suitable quarters, in which bouts can be decided within the limits of the law. One of these promoters consulted an attorney recently and was informed that if no admission fee were charged there could be no interference. The attorney stated that, there could be any number of members who would pay the required initiation fees and dues, which would necessarily cover all expenses, it was his opinion that the wealthy New York A. C. could hold a bout between such men as Corbett and Nelson, if members only were admitted, with no gate meney taken up. There would be nothing to prevent the puglists from receiving a stated sum for their services, as in the cases of vaude-ville performers. On the strength of this count of the New York as the cases of vaude-ville performers. Cn the strength of this count of the puglists from receiving a stated sum for their services, as in the cases of vaude-ville performers. Cn the strength of this county is stated that an effort will be made soon to put such a club in running order.

BACING AT NEW ORLEANS. Leonard Joe Hayman Wins the Third Special Easily.

TALKS OF WORLD'S SERIES.

New Orleans, March 1.—A warm day and a fast track along with an attractive programme brought a large crowd to the Fair Grounds this afternoon. Twenty-one books had all that they could do to handle

The third special was the feature of the racing. It was for two-year-olds, at a half mile, and brought out a field of seven high class animals. Leonard Joe Hayman was made the favorite and was steadily played at 3 to 1, while Proteus and Jim McGinniss both attracted more than the usual amount of attention. It was an excellent betting race, as the field looked to be an evenly balanced one. Beachwood was tipped rather lively on his work and was tipped rather lively on his work and to make matters look all the better Dominick had the leg up.

Leonard Joe Hayman, although off fourth, quickly raced to the front and smothered his field in the first quarter, and from there home was never in trouble and won with ribbons of daylight separating him from Filatory. The race that Leonard Joe Hayman ran was a very impressive one. He demonstrated that he is one of the best colts here, and weight and distance look alike to him. Summary:

surely beating his opponent down. Corbett went to his knees in the sixth round to escape punishment, and in the seventh he was decidedly groggy and weak. He rallied somewhat in the eighth, but fought wildly. One of his swings landed on Nelson's law and for a brief moment the little Dane was dazed. But Corbett did not have sufficient strength to follow up this advantage and Nelson rallied. Nelson's blows to all appearances must have told, for when he toed the scratch for the ninth Corbett was still dazed. A couple of punches on the law and a few in the wind took the steam out of the ex-champion and it was all over but the explanations. Corbett's seconds saw that it was useless to allow their man to take any further punishment, so they wisely threw up the sponge.

After the bout Nelson made the statement that he felt confident of winning from the start. He thinks that he could have ended the mill quicker than he did, but said that he followed the instructions of his seconds, who advised him to use caution and care. Young Corbett did not have any fault to find with the outcome. He acknowledged that he was fairly heaten and that there was no doubt that Nelson was the better man.

The house did not figure up financially as well as the promoters had expected. About $19,000 was taken in at the door. Of this amount the fighters received 60 per cent., or $11,400. This was divided on a basis of 65 and 35 per cent, so that Nelson will get close to $7,400 and Corbett about $4,000. Nelson backed himself to a considerable extent and it is said that he cleared up about $4,000 more. Betting on the mill was vigorous. Nelson being a 10 to 8 favorite.

EVANS MATCH OFF.

American Not to Fight Joe Bowker in England This Spring.

The contemplated visit of Joe Bowker to America has compelled the National Sporting Club London, to cancel the proposed twenty und bout between Bowker and Pinky Evans of Yonkers. They were to have met on Derby night. It is understood that some other man in place of Evans will be substituted, as the ub does not like the showing Evans made recently against Rouse O'Brien of Massachurecently against Rouse O'Brien of Massachusetts. The American representative of the foreign club failed to induce Abe-Attell and his brother Monte to make the trip. It is not unlikely that the club may try to have Tommy Murphy meet Owen Moran. Negotiations for such a struggle are under way. The question of weight is the only barrier lust now. Murphy is ready to fight the Englishman at 118 pounds, while Moran wants 116 pounds.

NAVY MEN AT MOTOR SHOW.

OFFICERS EXAMINE BOATS AND ENGINES AT THE GARDEN.

Show a Big Success and Exhibitors Well Pleased-Indian Camp in the Concert Hall Furnishes Enfertalnments That Are Amusing-Fly Casting Contests.

Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan was to have visited the Motor Boat and Sportmen's Show at the Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon, but he was unable to do so, being confined to his house with a cold. Several officers from the navy yard were present, though, and they made a long and critical study of all the boats and smotors as well as the accessories in the Garden. The Navy Department is very much interested in motors just now and the examination made by these officers might be called an official one in a way, because what they learned will be carefully studied later and probably result in gas engines being more generally adopted in boats used by the navy than they are now.

The attendance at the show was very large all day yesterday and the exhibitors are delighted with the attention they are receiving from the public and the interest that is being taken in everything that is shown. The motor boat men say that it is the most sucess ful show that they have ever been interested in and that they have made more sales this year than in all former exhibits put together. years' show and all the space has been engaged. Many exhibitors who wanted to show have been unable to secure space and the managers are wondering how they can in-crease the capacity of the Garden.

and festival dances of their tribe. Last night they had a gambling fiesta, and it wound up as usual with a dance. On Monday evening they had a war dance, such as they do before going to battle; and Shungopapi, the Moki medicine man and sleight of hand performer, gave an exhibition of his skill. This Indian is unusually intelligent and fills in his performance with his own original witticisms. Then they had the snake dance, the real snake dance of their people. Rather than give one staid performance every evening, there is a daily change, and the customs of these Indians are illustrated, not only in their dances, but also in their games, and in a way that appeals to the better class of people.

Francisco, on Tuesday night. The shortness of the mill came as a surprise to the followers of Corbett, who at least expected him to put up a longer contest. The Denverman was nover in better condition. He had trained hard and faithfully, so his reverse cannot be ascribed to his lack of fettle.

Nelson proved himself the better man, as he did when he fought Corbett before. He was Corbetts master in every round save the first. In this round Corbett manage to reach his man with fair effect. After that the Dane held the key to the situation.

Those who expected to see a finely fought mill were disappointed. Instead of mixing it up from the outset, as was expected, Corbett guarded himself cautiously and refused to wade in. He did most of his work at long range. The second round was even, but from the third on Nelson was slowly but surely beating his opponent down. Corbett went to his knees in the sixth round to escape punishment, and in the seventh he was decidedly groggy and weak. He ralled somewhat in the eighth, but fought wildly. Mr. Christie told The Sun reporter that if he can get the use of the McMurtry timing system he will go to the beach anyhow next I useday.

Since the recent races Mr. Christie has increased the horse-power of his car and nade altogether five changes which he believes have made it five seconds faster. Mr. Christie said he would enter his present racer and a new one to be built for the Vanderbilt cup race. The new car will weigh only 1.700 pounds and will be of 110 horse-power. It will have two engines, one forward and one rear, each driving directly on the front and rear pair of wheels, respectively.
